INVOLVES MINOR POSITIONS

Dr. Dearing to Be Assistant Physician at Norfolk-New Bank Examiner -Uncle Jake Wolfe's Stenographer.

LINCOLN, Feb. 25 .- (Special.)-A number of changes are being made among the popocratic officeholders, occurring so nearly at the same time as to create the suspicion that they have brought about as the result of a meeting of the state officials and certain prominent politicians. The information is given out that W. H. Barber, assistant physician at the Hospital for the Insane at Norfolk, has resigned, and that Dr. W. H. Dearing, state senator from Cass county and assistant secretary of the State Exposition commission, has been appointed to the position. Dr. Dearing's resignation from the state senatorship is on file at the governor's office and has been accepted. The position of assistant at the Norfolk institution pays a salary of $1,800 a year, besides the living. It is thought that Dr. Dearing will resign from his place with the exposition commission, but he has not yet done so. The new appointment takes effect the 1st of March.
The State Banking Board announces that

A. Reynolds, bank examiner, has handed in his resignation, to take effect March 1, and that E. H. Luikhardt of Madison county has been appointed to the place. Mr. Luik-hardt is cashier of the bank at Meadow Grove and is a son of Hon. George Luikhart, who was tendered the place as bank examiner a year ago, but did not accept. It is said that Mr. Reynolds contemplates going into law practice in the western part of the Land Commissioner Wolfe will make another change the first of the month, in the working force in his department. Miss Cora King, who has been in the office for a number of years, will give place to Miss Lizzle Stevens of Hastings, Neb.

A change has been contemplated for some time, owing to a more equitable distribution of the patronage of the department, but, on account of Miss King's good work and general knowledge of the duties of the office, action has been deferred. Besides her other qualifications, Miss Stevens is a good stenographer, which Mr. Wolfe says is very desirable and with only one to do the work, it is almost a necessity, owing to the increase in the correspondence. the new supreme court rules, as recently amended, have been received by Clerk Campbell. The amended rules now read as follows:

Section 1. (Submission of Causes.)—
Causes will be taken up and heard in their order on the docket. Any cause may, however, be submitted upon the written stipulation of the parties thereto providing for such submission on printed briefs accompanied by or containing an agreed printed abstract of the record and evidence upon which the case is to be determined. Whenever a cause is reached and the brief of the party having the affirmative is not on file the judgment will be affirmed or the proceeding dismissed. When default has been made by the other party and there is due proof of service of summons in error and the briefs of the pirty holding the affirmative are on file with proof of service thereof within the time provided by rule 9, he may proceed ex parte. But if the briefs shall be served or filed out of service thereof within the time provided by rule 9, he may proceed ex parte. But if the briefs shall be served or filed out of time, although without leave of court, the irregularity shall be deemed waived if no objection be made on that ground at the time of service, if the delay be in that respect, or if the delay be merely in filing, within thirty days thereafter, of if the adverse party serve and file the briefs in answer. The hearing of no cause shall, however, be delayed by default of either party in serving or filing briefs. To avoid such result the case will be disposed of as such result the case will be disposed of as if the delinquent party's brief had not been served: Provided, that the court may under cial circumstances and on suitable terms

Miss Stevens comes with the best recommendations from populistic, democrate and free silver republicans of the Fifth district, and, besides, her work in the attorney general's office, where she has been for some time, commends her as a very wise selection and we have no doubt but that she will fill the position with credit to herself and meet the expectations of her many friends.

The governor has received notice from William Wyndham, British consul at Chicago, of the appointment of Matthew Alexander Hall as vice consul at Omaha, "with full power and authority, by all lawful means, to aid and protect her majesty's subjects trading in, visiting or residing in his district." A certificate of authority for the new vice consul is also received, signed by William R. Day, acting secretary of state.

A demurrer has been filed in the supremecourt by R. E. Lee Herdman and the other members of Governor Holcomb's Fire and Police commissioners and Police commissioners and Fire and Police commissioners.

The decision of the supreme court is alleged that the patition recently field by Mayor Moores and the members of the council was not sufficient to state a cause of action against the said commissioners nor sufficient to require them to answer. They see up the claim that they are entitled to and are lawfully occupying the places as Fire and Police commissioners.

The decision of the supreme court is bearing fruit at the state treasurer's office. The cash received, there today from insurate companies amounted to $888 and twenty receipts were issued which the companies presented to the state auditor and asked for certificates.
